

A decorative graphic consisting of several colored rectangular blocks with rounded corners. A vertical purple bar is on the left. Below it, a blue bar extends horizontally. To the right of the blue bar, there are four horizontal bars in purple, yellow, red, and yellow, stacked vertically. The text is centered in the black space between the purple and blue bars.

Effectiveness/ti me against agile

Arguments:

- Pair-programming: slower having one person coding than two persons.
- Merging into a working version every sprint takes time (every friday merging).

- In waterfall the experts work within their field and not outside it, as in agile.
- Difficulties introducing new members (lack of documentation).
- Requirements change and therefore unnecessary work is done.