

TEAM SPIRIT , HAPPINESS.
INDIVIDUAL HAPPINESS.

The team owns the entire project. Other methodologies limit people in creativity, in bringing new ideas by their roles, fixed requirements and tasks. Agile team has no limits in creativity, in influencing the final product. Team thinks out of box and that can change the whole world. There are no roles all are equal. The instant feedback from teammates, customer motivates the team.

- One of the twelve principles of agile software says to give people environment and support they need and trust them to get the job done. This makes people motivated and happy.

Why?

- You bring your ideas in requirements and can influence the whole product.
- Agile team is more creative.
- Team feels motivated with customers instant feedback. If feedback is not positive you can fix easily mistakes.
- On pair programming you learn more, help each other and you find solutions easier.
- Its pleasant to teach someone.
- You get feedback from your teammates, it can lead to picking up the best solutions.
- At stand up meeting you feel stimulated by others progress.
- Short tasks keep people happy because they see the results faster
